Reading

- 1 ★ Read the text about Matt Suter. What unusual thing happened to him? How old was he?

Matt Suter, from Missouri, USA, is lucky to be alive. In 2006 he became one of the few people to experience the inside of a tornado and survive.

Matt was a high-school student at the time and was relaxing at home in his grandmother's trailer when he heard a noise like a jet plane, which got louder and louder. One minute he realised that the walls and the floor of the trailer were moving, and the next minute all the windows and doors exploded. It was a tornado.

A lamp hit Matt on the head, and he lost consciousness. At that moment the tornado sucked him out of the trailer and he disappeared. When he woke up, he was lying in a field of soft grass, a long way from the trailer. His head was bleeding where the lamp hit him and his feet were cut, but surprisingly, that was all. A neighbour found him, and they went to look for his grandmother. Luckily, she also survived, under the ruins of the trailer.

The tornado carried 19-year-old Matt nearly 400 metres from the trailer and then dropped him. Now he holds a strange world record: he is the person to travel the longest distance in a tornado and survive! For a while he was a celebrity. He appeared on television to talk about his experience, but he didn't have very much to say because, unfortunately, he can't remember anything about what happened after the lamp knocked him out!

- 2 ★★ Match the words in the box with the definitions. Use the words in bold in the text to help you.

field alive trailer suck bleed ~~lose~~ lose consciousness

- 3 a piece of farmland _____
- 4 a mobile home or caravan _____
- 5 lose blood in an accident _____
- 6 be the best person in the world at something _____
- 7 hit someone and make them unconscious _____
- 8 pull into your mouth _____

- 3 ★★ Read the text again. Put the events in order.

- a Matt found his grandmother. _____
- b The tornado lifted Matt and carried him away. _____
- c He appeared on TV. _____
- d Matt was relaxing in his grandmother's trailer. 1
- e Matt woke up in a field. _____
- f A tornado hit the trailer. _____
- g A lamp hit Matt on the head. _____

- 4 ★★ Read the text again. Are these sentences true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 Matt Suter is from England. F
Matt Suter is from the USA.
- 2 Matt was 19 when the tornado happened. _____
- 3 A plane hit the trailer where Matt was. _____
- 4 Matt landed on a road 400 metres from the trailer. _____
- 5 The lamp hit Matt after the tornado hit the trailer. _____
- 6 The police found Matt in a field. _____
- 7 His grandma didn't die in the tornado. _____
- 8 Matt told everyone how it felt to be in a tornado. _____

- 5 ★★★ Imagine Matt is giving a TV interview. Write at least five questions and answers.

Interviewer: How did it start?

Matt: Well ... I was sitting in our trailer when I heard a loud noise.

Hi Claire,

happened

A strange thing ~~was happening~~ when I walked in the mountains last week. When I arrived at the top of the mountain, it was raining. I was meeting three people there. I said hello to them, but they weren't replying. Then I noticed that they wore strange clothes. It was freezing up there and it was raining hard, and it was daytime, but they were wearing summer clothes and sunglasses and carrying a torch! Suddenly, I saw that their clothes and hair were dry! That was impossible! I was closing my eyes. But when I looked again, they weren't there.

I was running down the mountain very fast!

What do you think about this?

JUGGLING MY LIFE!

HOME ABOUT NEWS CONTACT

I'm a long jumper. I train four times a week and compete on Sundays. I love athletics, but my life isn't easy and involves a lot of juggling. Schoolwork, training, family life, sleeping and socialising all need my attention and there are only 24 hours in a day! So what are my biggest problems?

1 The attitude of my friends : Most of my friends aren't sporty so they don't understand why I am. If we're hanging out and I have to leave early because I've got an athletics meeting on the next day, they say 'No, Sam, you mustn't go!'

2 _____ : An athlete can eat a lot and not get fat, but I must eat healthy food to support all the exercise (and brainwork!) I do. I have to ignore the machines selling sweets and chocolate (not easy!) and make sure I eat enormous helpings of protein, vegetables and fruit.

3 _____ : When I'm training hard I should go to bed early, or I quickly feel exhausted.

This is a problem, as I've sometimes got loads of homework to do when I get home. Luckily, there's Saturday!

4 _____ : I have to use every free moment. I often revise in the car to and from training. I do homework after dinner, but I shouldn't stay up late, so usually I finish my coursework at the weekend, when my friends are out having fun. I'm not surprised they think I'm crazy!

I don't have to do this, so why do I? Because I'm good at it, and I want to win a gold medal!

Reading

- 1 ★ Read the text about being a living statue. Is it a difficult job?

Being a

Nowadays you see living statues all over the world. They wear elaborate costumes and body paint, and stand without moving for hours. But what's it like? Is it difficult? I spoke to Nina, a living statue in London.

'You need to be physically and mentally fit. It's actually quite hard standing still, and you have to eat before you start or you feel ill.

'We wear body paint so we look like real metal or stone statues. Metallic paint takes over an hour to put on and it's difficult to get off, too. Every week I have a sauna to clean my skin. I love designing different costumes and being creative. We even paint our clothes to make them look heavy. In the winter you need to wear thermal underwear under your costume so you don't shiver with cold.

'I've worked at glamorous birthday parties for famous people, and in parks in the rain, and I've just been to the World Championships in Holland. There were 300 statues and 300,000 visitors. It was incredible! Most people love us but sometimes young children are frightened and I've seen one or two cry!'

Antonio Santos from Barcelona holds the world record for standing still, an incredible 20 hours, 11 minutes and 38 seconds, but the longest Nina has stood without moving is two and a half hours, at a party. 'It was awful! So now, I move. If someone gives me money, I blow a kiss or do a dance to say thank you. And of course if you need to sneeze or something, you have to 'come alive' and make it part of the performance. It's hard work but fun!'

- 2 ★★ Complete the sentences with the words in the box. Use the words in bold in the text to help you.

blow a kiss sneeze costume ~~stone~~ get off shiver fit [adjective] still [adjective]

- 1 That stone flowerpot looks great but it's really heavy.
- 2 Did he wear a pirate _____ for Carnival?
- 3 Oh! I want to _____ but I can't. It's a horrible feeling.
- 4 I always _____ to my granny when we leave her house to drive home.
- 5 I think this paint on my T-shirt is permanent. It's impossible to _____.
- 6 My cousin is very active. She can't sit _____ for one minute.
- 7 It was freezing outside and we started to _____.
- 8 My mum goes running to stay _____.

- 3 ★★ Read the text again. Are these sentences true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 You can only see living statues in Europe. F
They are all over the world.
- 2 Living statues need to use their mind and their body.

- 3 The paint is easy to put on and get off.

- 4 Nina works in lots of different places.

- 5 Lots of people are scared of the living statues.

- 6 Nina doesn't enjoy her job.

- 4 ★★★ Read the sentences. Tick (✓) the ones a living statue probably says. What does the other person do?

- 1 'I'm wearing three T-shirts under my costume – it's really cold.' ☒
- 2 'I sometimes drop a ball when I try with six.' ☐
- 3 'A little girl started crying when she saw me.' ☐
- 4 'A bird landed on my head today.' ☐
- 5 'Sometimes I stand on one leg and do it with three knives.' ☐
- 6 'I'm going for a sauna now to wash the paint off.' ☐

- 5 ★★★ Imagine working as a living statue. What is good about it? What are the difficult things? Write your ideas.

Writing

An Internet post

- 1 Read Pete's Internet post. How many different types of performers does he write about?

Street festivals

Have you ever been to a street festival? I was at one last month. It ¹ was in Dorchester, a town near my village. There ² a great atmosphere, with hundreds of people there to see the performers, who were from all over the country. There ³ jugglers, dancers and even a magician. The ones I liked best ⁴ a juggler and fire-eater – wow!

There ⁵ lots of musicians and groups, too. They ⁶ (not) famous, but there ⁷ some quite good ones. The first ones played rock and punk but one of the groups ⁸ terrible. They played pop and I'm better than their guitarist!

The street festival is touring different towns in England this summer. If it's at one near you, go for it!

Reading

1 ★ Read the text about two holidays. What have they got in common?

- They are both trekking holidays for families with teenagers.
- On both trips you stay in luxury hotels.
- Both holidays include a four-day trek in the mountains.

Bored with your holidays? Discover a new world with Discovery

Discovery has organised great holidays for 25 years, and we've just started holidays especially for families with teenagers. Our trips are carefully planned, and experienced, well-trained tour guides take groups of up to 15 people. Porters carry your luggage, so you can enjoy the scenery, and our cooks prepare delicious food every night.

Nepal Adventure Tour

Days 1–2 Chill out in Kathmandu, Nepal's capital city, where there are beautiful temples and monkeys climbing in the trees.

Days 3–10 The Annapurna Trek is spectacular, with amazing views of some of the world's highest mountains. We offer optional white-water rafting through the rapids. You sleep in teahouses, eat pancakes for breakfast and at dinner eat curry with your fingers, Nepalese style.

Days 11–12 The jungle of Chitwan National Park is a great place to relax after the trek. You can ride the elephants, and look for rare one-horned rhinos.

Days 13–14 Back to Kathmandu to shop for souvenirs in the bazaars.

Inca Trail For Teens

Days 1–3 Set off for Cusco, the ancient Inca capital. You can explore fascinating Inca ruins and look around this beautiful Spanish-style city. We also visit the colourful indigenous Pisac Market.

Day 4–5 We visit Misminay, where our Inca Trail porters live, to experience the traditional way of life of an Andean mountain village.

Days 6–7 Enjoy the thrill of white-water rafting or downhill mountain biking in the beautiful Sacred Valley.

Day 8–11 A four-day trek along the Inca Trail through spectacular scenery.

Day 12 Arrive at Machu Picchu and discover this ancient Inca citadel.

Days 13–14 Back to Cusco. Finish your holiday here shopping for souvenirs and chilling out.

2 ★★ Complete the sentences with the words in bold from the text.

- I like travelling by train and looking out of the window at the _____.
- When I go on holiday, I always buy _____ to remind me of the places I've visited.
- There's nothing like the _____ of a big rollercoaster – they are so exciting, I always scream!
- How much _____ have you got? You can only take 20 kilos on the plane.
- In India the _____ are really hotel-restaurants, not cafés where you have a cup of tea.
- The hotel _____ who carried our bags recommended a good restaurant.

3 ★★ Read the text again. Circle the correct options.

Reading

- 1 ★ Read the text about Tony Anderson. How has the Internet changed his life?

BREAKING DOWN

Tony Anderson is 15 and, like most people his age, he spends a lot of time on his computer and smartphone, but his parents aren't complaining. In fact, they're pleased. This is because Tony was born deaf, but now, thanks to technology and social media, his life has completely changed. Young deaf people have attended the same schools as other children for a long time, but in the past they found it difficult to make friends. Most deaf people could only communicate using sign language, and so their classmates couldn't talk to them. And if you can't communicate, you won't be able to take part in social activities with other teenagers. So deaf teenagers felt isolated and bored, didn't have a social life, and often suffered from low self-esteem.

Then along came the technological revolution, with computers, the Internet and mobile phones. Teenagers began to communicate more and more by text message and go on social media sites like Facebook and Twitter. For deaf teenagers, the Internet is an ideal way to communicate, because it doesn't need hearing or speaking. More importantly, everyone uses it, not just deaf people. As Tony explains, 'Now, if you're a deaf teenager, no-one will know you're different. It's incredible! I can post on chat forums or social networks and the other people probably won't know I'm deaf, so they treat me like everyone else. It's made me a lot more relaxed and confident.'

The other thing Tony enjoys is being able to connect up with other teenagers who are deaf. 'We've all had similar experiences in life, so we understand each other. I've made some good friends online, and sometimes we meet up, too. One day soon, deaf teenagers might be able to have a totally normal social life because of the Internet!'

- 2 ★★ Complete the sentences with the words in bold from the text.

- Let's _____ tomorrow morning and go to the comic exhibition.
- Would you like to _____ in an experiment?
- Mark was ill when he was a baby and now he is _____ in one ear.
- You mustn't _____ your brother like that! Be nice to him.
- We lived in a remote place and I felt very _____.

- 3 ★★ Read the text again and circle the correct options.

- Why does Tony spend a lot of time on his computer?
 - He's a typical teenager.
 - He doesn't do any school work.
 - He hasn't got a mobile phone.
- Why were deaf teenagers often unhappy before the Internet?
 - Schools didn't know how to teach them.
 - They didn't have any friends.
 - It was difficult to communicate with others.
- What was not true for deaf teenagers before technology?
 - They didn't often go out with friends.
 - A lot of them didn't have much confidence.
 - They all had to communicate with sign language.
- Why is technology so important for Tony?
 - It means he's like other teenagers.
 - He's good at it because he's deaf.
 - He can explain to people that he's deaf.
- What is not true about Tony's life nowadays?
 - He's got a normal social life.
 - He doesn't know any other deaf teenagers.
 - He feels better about himself.

- 4 ★★ Read the summary of the text. Correct five mistakes.

Tony Anderson is a deaf teenager who uses the Internet and social networks to make friends and ¹to go to school. His parents ²are worried about him spending a lot of time on the Internet because it has helped Tony in his social life and ³in sports. Now with the Internet and mobile phones people ⁴still know he's deaf and he can communicate with other people. He's made a lot of friends and some of his new friends are deaf. ⁵He'd like to meet up with them.

- _____ have a social life
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____

- 5 ★★ Tony's story shows a positive aspect of the Internet. What other good things are there? Write at least three more advantages.

The Internet helps young people in different cities or countries communicate.

Reading

- 1 ★ Read the text about Janie. What was her problem? Does she still have the problem?

Are you EXAM-PHOBIC?

Janie was a good student. She worked hard in class, and did her homework, but she did badly in exams. Then one day her mind went blank. She froze and couldn't answer any of the questions.

Most people feel a little nervous before a test. It's normal, and a few nerves can often help you do well. But for some people, like Janie, the anxiety is too strong, and it results in physical symptoms which affect their ability to think. This is called test anxiety.

Test anxiety is when you feel stressed because you have to do well. It can also happen when you sing a solo in a concert, or play an important match. In extreme cases, you shake, think you are going to faint, or your mind goes blank, like Janie. So what's the solution?

- TIPS Many students only study for exams the night before. You can reduce test anxiety if you study more regularly. This gives you confidence, and means you expect to do well.
- NEGATIVE THOUGHTS Negative thoughts, like 'I know I'm going to fail this exam,' affect your confidence in yourself. Repeat positive messages to yourself.
- SLEEP AND EXERCISE Getting enough sleep and exercise, and eating healthy food before an exam can help your mind work at its best.
- BREATHING EXERCISES Calm yourself with breathing exercises regularly, when you're not stressed. Do these exercises before an exam, and your body recognises them as the signal to relax.

Janie already had some good study habits, but she didn't get enough sleep. She also expected to do badly in exams. So she used these tips to help herself, and they worked! Now she can't believe she ever had test anxiety.

- 2 ★★ Match the words in the box with the definitions. Use the words in bold in the text to help you.

(mind) go blank signal shake faint [verb] confidence tip [noun] breathe freeze

- 1 small uncontrollable movements of the body shake
- 2 you cannot remember anything _____
- 3 a feeling that you can do something well _____
- 4 a small piece of advice _____
- 5 take air in and out of your body _____
- 6 lose consciousness _____
- 7 become immobile _____
- 8 gesture or action used to give an instruction _____

- 3 ★★ Read the text again and answer the questions.

- 1 Why was it surprising that Janie didn't do well in exams?
Because she was a good student.
- 2 Why can a few nerves before an exam be a good thing?

- 3 Why can studying more regularly help?

- 4 Why should you get enough sleep, food and exercise?

- 5 When should you do breathing exercises?

- 6 How did Janie solve her problem?

- 4 ★★★ Read the sentences. Do these people have test anxiety? Write Yes (Y) or No (N).

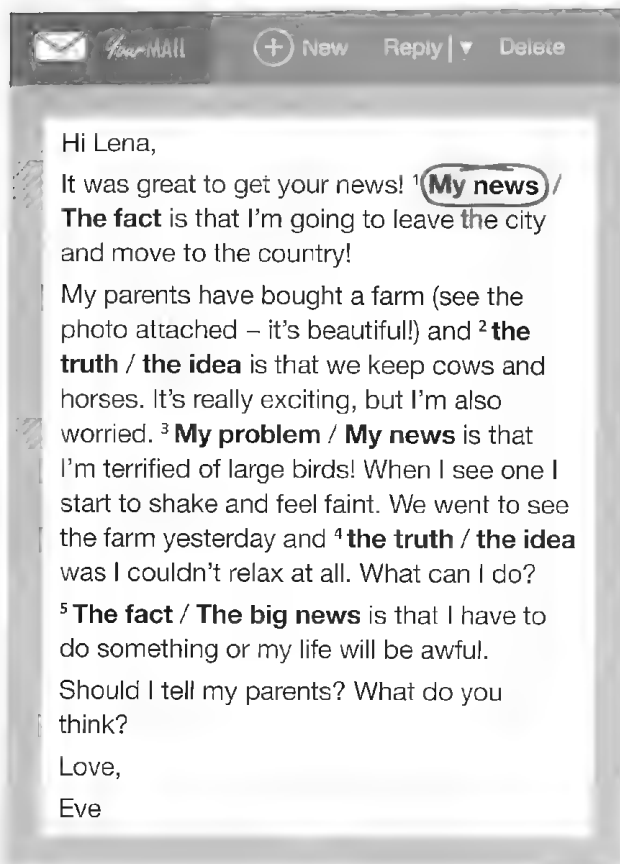

- 1 'I think I'm going to faint!' Y
- 2 'I'm going to bed early to get a good night's sleep.' _____
- 3 'Oh no! I can't remember anything!' _____
- 4 'Before an exam, I do breathing exercises to relax.' _____
- 5 'I've worked hard for this exam. I know I can pass.' _____
- 6 'I know I'm going to fail. I know it!' _____

- 5 ★★★ How do you feel about exams? Have you ever had any of the symptoms in the text? Do you think the solutions would work for you? Why?/Why not? Write your answers.

Reading

- 1 ★ Read Ted's text about an experiment at his school. What is a 'secret student'? Did it work at Ted's school?

You might be the 'SECRET STUDENT' today!

Last year my school tried a new way to get students to behave better in class. It's called the 'secret student', and the idea is not to punish bad behaviour but reward good behaviour instead. If your class gets enough points, they get a prize at the end of the year.

Here's what happens. Every morning the class teacher chooses a secret student at random – by picking a name from a box. This person represents the class all day. In every lesson the teacher monitors him or her, and gives a tick for good behaviour or a cross for bad behaviour. At the end of the day, the class is awarded a point if the secret student has got more ticks than crosses. The crucial thing about this system is that if you were the secret student you wouldn't know, so everyone has to behave well to make sure the class gets a point. The teachers only reveal the identity of that day's secret student if they award a point, but if the student doesn't get a point their identity stays secret.

The idea of the secret student is to make everyone feel their behaviour has consequences for the whole class, not just for them individually. It also means students encourage each other to behave: 'You could be the secret student, stop talking!' The teachers also warn students who start behaving badly: 'Jan, you might be the secret student! Do you want a tick? Then sit down!' In the end everybody becomes more responsible, and it brings the class together.

It certainly worked in my class. Our behaviour was much better and we got 108 points, which was enough for a day at a theme park after our exams. We had an amazing time, so it was definitely worth it!

HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS

AT A NEW SCHOOL

It's hard to change schools and leave all your friends. The problem is that in a new school everything is different. You even get lost going to your classroom! So if you're at a new school, how can you make friends fast?

- The most important thing is you ¹can / must be yourself – don't try to change your personality to suit other people. When people discover your personality, they will accept you.
- ²Think carefully / Make sure about making a good impression. You ³never / should dress in clothes you feel comfortable in but nothing too extreme!
- ⁴Never / Make sure sit alone at the back of the class. Always try to sit with other people in class or in the canteen.
- You might be nervous, but ⁵don't / make sure you're nice to people, and ⁶don't / think carefully be rude. Keep smiling and try to look interested.
- If you see someone else on their own, you ⁷don't / should go and talk to them. They might be new at the school too and need a friend!
- You ⁸could also / also could try to get involved with activities and join after-school clubs. You might find people who are interested in doing the same things as you.

Stay positive and you'll soon make friends!

an explanation of the problem

PLAN

9 You are going to write an advice leaflet about how to avoid stress at school. Make notes about the things in Exercise 8.

WRITE

10 Write your advice leaflet. Look at page 83 of the Student's Book to help you.

This image shows a single page from a notebook or ledger. It features ten evenly spaced horizontal black lines running across its width. The lines are thin and uniform, typical of standard stationery. There is no handwriting, printed text, or other markings on the page. The background is a plain off-white color.

CHECK

11 Check your writing. Can you say YES to these questions?

- Is the information in Exercise 8 in your leaflet?
- Have you introduced the advice with different expressions?
- Have you used conditionals in your writing?
- Are the -ing verbs and infinitives correct?
- Does the leaflet end with a positive message?
- Are the spelling and punctuation correct?

Do you need to write a second draft?

Reading

1 ★ Read the text about drinks cans. Choose the correct summary.

- How you can become a millionaire selling drinks in cans.
- How recycling cans is better for the environment.
- How we can help the environment by not buying drinks in cans.

WHAT 'CAN' WE DO?

475 billion cans of drink are sold in the world every year. What happens to all these empty aluminium cans? Amazingly, a lot of them are recycled! It takes 100 years for an aluminium can to decompose in a landfill. So recycling makes sense.

Aluminium doesn't occur naturally. It's made from bauxite in a process called smelting. Producing aluminium is energy-intensive. Bauxite is extracted by mining, which is expensive and creates environmental problems. Bauxite mining harms forests, which affects plants and animals, and the chemicals which are used in the process affect the health of people living there.

Recycling reduces the need to mine bauxite. Recycling aluminium consumes only 5% of the energy needed to produce it by mining and smelting. In fact, making one can with recycled aluminium saves enough energy to run a television for three hours!

Aluminium is one of the most common materials in modern life. It's the cheapest material to recycle, and can be recycled indefinitely because it isn't damaged by the process. Cans are also one of the easiest things to recycle – new drinks cans appear in the shops only six weeks after recycling!

In some countries people pay extra for each can they buy. If they recycle the can or take it back to a shop, they get this money back. Many places have got special machines where cans are crushed, and you get a ticket saying how many cans you recycled so you can reclaim the money. In Sweden, where this is very successful, 92% of cans are recycled. In Britain, people sell empty cans for charity. There are several hundred places that buy cans and then recycle them. Just imagine – if every can in the UK were recycled like this, it would raise over £30 million a year for good causes!

2 ★★ Match the words in bold from the text with the definitions.

Last month I went to a meeting about saving water. The event was organised by a local TV channel, and afterwards my family volunteered to try to reduce the amount of water we use. 'How do we save water?'
1 asked my dad.

The TV company suggested easy ways to save water. 'One of them is a five-minute limit on showers,' they 2 _____. Another was to stop wasting water while we brushed our teeth. 'You only really need water at the end,' they 3 _____. Then one day they came to our house: 'We want to film you at home!' they 4 _____ us.

A TV crew came to our house when we started and again yesterday. The first time they didn't film me, but this time I was filmed switching on the dishwasher! It's great. My family have used these ideas and saved water, and we'll be on TV!

- 2 Complete Luke's article for his school newspaper. Use the words in the box.

explained told asked said

- 3 Read the article again and answer the questions.

- 1 What was the meeting about?
Reducing the water you use at home.
- 2 Who organised it?

- 3 What do Luke's family have to do?

- 4 What is the maximum time for a shower to save water?

- 5 When doesn't Luke need to use water?

- 6 How does he feel about the experience?

Useful language Using direct speech

WRITING TIP

Make it better! ✓✓✓

Use direct speech to show the reader exactly what someone said – it makes your writing more interesting.

- 4 Write these sentences in direct speech.

- 1 He explained that we are participating in a TV programme.
You are participating in a TV programme.
- 2 He asked me how much water I use.

- 3 They explained that it's very easy to save water.

- 4 He told me it'll be on TV tomorrow.

- 5 They said we use too much water.

- 5 Circle the correct time linkers.

- 1 We went to a meeting and after / afterwards they told us about the programme.
- 2 They told us to turn off the TV while / when we went to bed.
- 3 One / A day, a TV crew came to my house.
- 4 I watched an interesting TV programme the last week / last week.
- 5 He'll have to do it again but this time / that time on film.

Writing

6 Complete the sentences with the active or passive form of the verbs in brackets.

- 1 The TV crew filmed (film) me switching off lights in the house.
- 2 The meeting _____ (organise) by a local TV channel.
- 3 They _____ (explain) different ways to save energy.
- 4 We _____ (ask) lots of questions about different habits.
- 5 They _____ (work out) how much energy we could save in a month.
- 6 All the videos _____ (post) online the week after the programme.

WRITING TIP

Make it better! ✓ ✓ ✓

Give background information at the beginning of the article to explain to the reader why something happened.

7 Read the sentences. Which one does not give background information?

- 1 A TV channel sent us a letter asking if we'd like to participate in a TV programme.
- 2 My family and I will be on TV next month!
- 3 Last month I wrote to a TV channel about one of their programmes.
- 4 Last Sunday about 200 people went to the local TV station for an interview.
- 5 In March, my family found out we were going to be part of a TV programme.

8 Read the article again. Make notes about the things Luke writes about.

Who is involved	Luke, his family and a local TV channel.
What they did
When they did it
What happened
What the consequences were
What is happening next

9 Imagine you are participating in a TV programme about saving energy. You are going to write an article about it for the school newspaper. Make notes for each heading in Exercise 8.

WRITE

10 Write your article. Look at page 93 of the Student's Book to help you.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines, typical of notebook paper. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There is no handwriting or other markings on the paper.

CHECK

11 Check your writing. Can you say YES to these questions?

- Is the information from the list in Exercise 8 in your article?
- Have you used direct speech in your article?
- Have you used time linkers correctly?
- Have you used the active and passive correctly?
- Have you given the reader some background information?
- Are the spelling and punctuation correct?

Do you need to write a second draft?
